Brooke Brown, Haley Ratliff's friend, had a seizure last Saturday night. They discovered tumors in her head. Brooke was already struggling with stage 4 cancer. She had surgery on Tuesday to remove the large tumor and it went well. The smaller tumor will be removed later with a less invasive procedure. Brooke has three young children.

Michelle Lavender graduated from respiratory therapy and moved out of ICU into a regular room. She does have a PICC line for antibiotics to ward off infections. She has had seven surgeries, including one this past week to repair fractures in her left foot. She was able to dangle her legs so that she can sit up. She was fit with a leg brace that will keep her right foot upright as it should be. She also got a brace for her right thumb that will enable her to use her fingers freely.
